NARROW ESCAPE A BOLD HOLDUP

A Most Exciting Sequel Mars a Pleasant Evening Spent at Social.

ARREST WILL SOON FOLLOW

Will Easley Roughly Handled by Several Colored Fellows Wednesday Night.

Will Easley went to a colored social last Wednesday night. He had a good time and was in the best of spirits when he started home. He hadn't gone but a few blocks when six or seven colored fellows held him up. Some of them had boards and others had revolvers. Of course Will was frightened and why shouldn't he be. They handled him very roughly and Easley believed they would have killed him if Lee Shy hadn't appeared just when he did. Shy is better known as cook at the pest house. He and Easley are close friends and Easley will never forget him, because he saved his life. Easley is afraid now to go out after night and the bunch threaten to kill him if they catch him on the hill. It is not known who the fellows were and Easley doesn't know why they should treat him so cruelly. Mr. Price is doing everything in his power to find the guilty parties—and an arrest will follow.

EXILE LAW RE-ESTABLISHED

Jack Crush Allowed Here But One Day Weekly.

I know Rushville people will be pleased that the officers have passed a resolution forbidding "Jack Crush" to be in Rushville only one day out of each week and should he violate this resolution he is to be placed in jail the rest of the week. A very good thing, don't you think so?

Girls Industrial School will have its regular meeting this afternoon.

BIG TIME AT WALNUT RIDGE

Annual May Quarterly Meeting Held Tomorrow.

The May Quarterly meeting will be held at Walnut Ridge May 8th and 9th. The business meeting was held today and the regular services will be held tomorrow. This is the time looked for by the young people of Ripley township as the first picnic of the season.

BIG ATTRACTION AT COUNTY FAIR

All Come and Take a trip in Our Airship Next Fall.

CONTRACT MADE WITH NASSER

Mr. Toney Nasser, of Toledo, O., was here today to close a contract for an airship flight at the Rush county fair. Mr. Nasser has had quite a lot of experience in this line and has met with great success in several of the Eastern States.

The fair this year will be bigger and better than ever. The list has been revised in the ladies' department, both in art and needlework. Something entirely new will be this year, a class for professionals and a class for amateurs. The amateurs will be confined to Rush county alone. Don't forget the date, August 24, 25, 26, 27.

Paintings in oil and water color, also class of fancy work by ladies over 60 years old. This includes kitchen aprons, buttonhole on various materials, specimen of darning, pair of silk mittens, bed socks knitted and patchwork quilt. For children under twelve years of age, best collection of stamps, best collection of coins, best collection of souvenir cards and best dress doll, centerpiece in department embroidery and center piece of hardenger.

A BREAKING RECORD MADE

Dr. Coleman certainly made a record-breaking run yesterday in his Buick car. Receiving a call from the country, he made eight miles in five and a quarter minutes. Who can beat it?

New Castle Courier: The end of the tailor's strike at Rushville will "suit" a lot of people.

NO RATS IN THEIR LOCKS

They Suddenly Appear in Our Midst Decidedly Unshorn and Unshaven.

BELIEVES IN THE MILLENIUM

Two Israelites Speak to Great Crowds on West Side of Public Square.

Israelites from Benton Harbor have held crowds spell bound all the day on South Main street, in front of the West entrance of the court house. People have been attracted more by their long hair than by their religious teachings. In fact, no one has been able to understand their doctrines for they talk in parables but do not seem to know what they say, yet they tell wonderful tales of their powerful colony at Benton Harbor, and their extensive possessions which amount to fifty acres of land at Benton Harbor, used for headquarters, 1000 acres timber land and a farm of 100 acres.

They claim several thousand followers in the United States. James Tucker and Irving Smith, the two followers here today have given many interesting facts concerning their habits. They do not wear black as black is a sign of death; neither do they cut their hair or do they shave.

They are followers of Elijah and Enoch and they believe in the millennium. Judging from the crowds something is being accomplished—either the churches will lose followers or the barbers will be thrown out of employment.

GUN CLUB SCORES.

The Gun Club met Wednesday afternoon and the scores are as follows:

Harcourt	80	62
Beale	40	20
Bassler	30	21
Chadwick	30	20
Cox	30	19
Moore	70	54
Brooks	80	65
Arnold	60	42
Williams	80	61
Sparks	50	36

The Sunset Gun Club will meet Monday afternoon for target practice.

HE OUGHT TO GET MONEY

Nice Old Man Suing For Damages—Good Looking Barrister.

Cyrus Tyner from Greenfield has a case here in the court house. He is an old man. He seems to be awfully nice and poor old fellow ought to get the damages he asks. He has the best looking attorney, some young fellow from Indianapolis. He wore a lovely plain blue serge with a polka dot cravat. He also had a dainty mustache as soft—apparently—as his easy voice. Judge Sparks is hearing the case.

Oh! You Paper

Did you ever edit a paper? No? Well, you are in blissful ignorance of what you have missed. Really it is great.

When the sorority decided to undertake today's edition, an editor-in-chief was appointed, who appointed various other editors—the city editor, grammatical editor, make up-editor, and police editor. Some one was discovered who could write headlines and another who could furnish an original short story. Reporters were selected to visit stations, doctors, police and court house, to gather local news. Subjects for editorials were mapped out and given to different girls to be written up.

The writing of these articles was so distributed among the various girls that it has been a burden to no one, and has proven a benefit and enjoyment to all. Surely Tri Kappa has never found more genuine pleasure in anything if has ever done than it has found in getting out today's issue of the Daily Republican.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE OFFICE

Frank Priest, the press man appeared at the office today dressed in his very best Sunday clothes.

Tommy Geraghty has had no time to go home to dinner but he took one hour and forty-five minutes to get a shave and is wearing an extra special wisteria tie.

Will Feudner ate a sandwich sitting on the editor's desk swinging his feet and telephoned his wife he was too busy to come home.

Roy Harrold was too fussed to speak and Mr. Jacob Feudner was the only member of the force who was able to conduct his work in his same phelmatic, methodical manner.

WORTHINGTON IS ALL IN

Will Recuparate in the King's Palace For a Few Days.

Tom Worthington was placed in jail last night by the officers on a charge of drunkenness. He was fined this morning $10 and cost and thirty days in jail so that will hold Tom for a few days.

BOLD ATTEMPT MADE LAST NIGHT

Mrs. Sam Young Finds a Thief in Her Home in North Perkins Street at 10:30 O'clock.

MAKES A HURRIED ESCAPE

Last night at 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Sam Young stepped into her kitchen to see if the lights were still burning in the Masonic Lodge where her husband was attending a meeting. Just before reaching the kitchen door, she heard a key turn in the lock of that door. She screamed and someone hurried off the porch and down the alley. Too frightened to open the door, she immediately telephoned George Young, who with Marshal Price and a few others, scoured the neighborhood; but no thief could be found.

EVERYBODY HELP NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Entire Town Can Help in the General Cleaning-Up Day.

DO YOUR BEST FOR THE TOWN

Now that the semi-annual agony of housecleaning is over, it is up to us to take a look at our yards and give them the regular spring going over. Rushville is known as the prettiest town in the State, and no wonder, for where can you find such sidewalks? Where can you find better shade trees? Where can you find prettier lawns, and where can you find cleaner allies after next Wednesday? (And where can you find worse streets?)

All of the cities near us are trying this year to outdo us, but with our May or clean-up day we are not going to be outdone.

But, really, wouldn't it be nice to live in the town that was considered the best in every way? One that had a real city park, a library and paved streets. A few of the neighboring cities have parks, and—well—we have one. Some have libraries, and we are working to get one. Most of them have paved streets, built under the three-mile law, why can't we have them? Why is this three-mile law unconstitutional in Rushville, when they are building and paving streets everywhere in the State under the same law.

JUST TURN GOATS IN.

The city marshal has received cows in the city. All further trouble will be prevented by Councilman Reynolds and Dick Glover, who have made arrangements to see after the park.

THE WEATHER.

Showers and thunderstorms tonight and Sunday. Warmer tonight. Colder Sunday afternoon.

MAN OF THE HOUR WHO SHALL IT BE

Our New Mayor Must be as Good as the Best and Better Than the Rest.

SEVERAL NAMES PROPOSED

He Must be Spick and Span to Keep Pace With Our City Beautiful.

It is a true fact that if we want a "City Beautiful," we ought to have a mayor of neat appearance; fond of nobby and "nifty" clothes; particularly that he wears clean linen; always certain that his shoes are polished to a degree of brightness, equal to the brightness of the intellect of a Demosthenes.

The question then arises who will that man be? In our highly intellectual city; our city of neat dressers, there are many men. Some of the names are Earl Payne, the foreman in Masonic Lodge, the head of People's Bank, and floor manager of Charity Ball. Fon Riggs, the hardware man, and Will Bliss, the clothier, both of whom were great leaders at aforesaid Charity Ball. Melvin Moor would also deserve mention for Mayor. Numerous names might be suggested all of whom without a doubt would be able men for the place.

I the above men would all agree to make the race for nomination, a warm nominating convention would be assured.

It is an assured fact that the Democratic nominee will be the jovial, neat appearing, John D. Megee, hence the opposing party must put up a man of equal talent in all lines, if his election is assured.

NOTES.

Many names are set up for city clerk, hence everyone will anxiously await a heated election for nominee. Those men running are Herbert Flint, Miles Cox, Charles Brown and Grant Gregg. A second Watson campaign is anticipated.

Along with numerous nominees for city offices it must not be omitted that George Payne puts up his name for street cleaner when we get the new brick streets.

MR. HADLEY WILL TALK ON LIBRARY

All Interested Persons Are Requested to be Present at This Meeting.

FACTS WILL BE FURNISHED

There will be a meeting of all persons interested in the library movement at the assembly room in the court house, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An informal talk on the purposes and value of libraries generally, will be given by Mr. Chalmers Hadley, secretary of the Indiana Library Commission. Mr. Hadley is a very scholarly man and is thoroughly informed concerning the library movement in Indiana and will furnish facts and statistics to anyone desiring them. All persons interested are urged to be present.

We neglected in our issue of this paper to publish an article introducing to the public the Hon. U. S. Consumer.

Some able novelist ought to take Brother Castro as the subject material for a new edition of "The Wandering Jew."

The dedication of the Longfellow monument in Washington yesterday marks a step in the literary progress of our country.

The National Aeronautic Association is having a meeting to decide on the rules of the air. No doubt the first will be, "A man falling out of a balloon will have the right of way."

A BIG QUESTION.

San Francisco is now holding out against the rest of the United States and all the generations to come for one half of the Yosemite National Park in California. The excuse the city makes for wanting to mutilate forever one of the world's greatest natural wonders, is that by so doing they can obtain an inexpensive water supply for themselves.

In other words they are asking that the nation give them $40,000,000 worth of water and electric power rights, without one cent of annual rental—and for this magnificent gift, San Francisco will deed to the nation a piece of commonplace, mountain grazing land, known as Hog Ranch!

Their plan is to dam the Tuolumne River to submerge the Hetch-Hetchy Valley under a hundred and fifty feet of water, and to use the basin thus created as a storage reservoir for a municipal water supply. But San Francisco has thirteen other available sources of water supply and that is more than most any other city in the world.

If congress grants San Francisco's request, the Hetch-Hetchy valley will be made an unsightly and inaccessible lake and Grand Canon of the Tuolumne above it will be forever closed to the public. Thus the thousand of yearly visitors and campers will be excluded from more than half of the Yosemite National Park.

These aspects of the scheme are certainly bad enough but with this precedent approved by congress and any National Park—the Yosemite, the Big Trees or the Yellowstone may be mutilated in like manner.

The Public Library.

Now that the long cherished dream of a library for our city is about to be realized it is well that the people of Rushville know some of the difficulties encountered by the few who know no such word as fail. The library law of Indiana provides—when a subscription list amounting to two tenths of a mill on the total taxable property of the city of Rushville is filed in the county Clerk's office, a library board consisting of seven members, at least three of whom shall be ladies, may be appointed. Of this board the circuit judge appoints three; the school board of the city of Rushville two, and the city council two—total, seven. This board constitutes a separate corporation under the law to receive donations of money or other property, and to hold title to real estate. Their most important power given by law is that of levying a tax for the support and maintenance of the library. This tax is not to exceed one mill upon the dollar. Under a recent law the township, outside of the city, may also be entitled to the privileges of the library, provided the township advisory board first consent to the levying of a tax for the purpose of aiding in the support of the library. In that case the township is entitled to appoint an additional member of the board—making a total of eight.

A committee of three from the Wednesday Evening Club was appointed. The necessary amount to be raised was $1,118, and after many and varied experiences and encounters, the sum was secured. This subscription is payable in eight equal, quarterly installments, covering a period of two years. No individual subscription for a larger sum than $10 was taken, hence it is readily seen that it cannot prove burdensome to anyone.

The far-reaching values of this movement can not be estimated, but as time goes by, the progress in culture and all that is best for us will bespeak themselves—and the public library will stand in our midst a monument to the people of Rushville in general, and to the labors of a few in particular.

Turkish Affairs.

Abdul Hamid has been described as "one of the most successful toters the world ever knew." The gravest consequences were feared when the statesmen of the new regime threw open to Christians the privilege of serving in the army and stopped the daily prayers for the commander of the faithful. Instead of precipitating the Sultan from his throne, however, this had just the opposite effect. Islam revolted, and the common soldiers surrounding the Parliament building forced the young Turk party to abdicate. It is reported that less than half the troops in Constantinople took part in the uprising, while the others oppose the new movement. Reports have come in of Mohammedan attacks on the Christians at Adana and elsewhere in Asia Minor, resulting in the death of thousands of the Missionaries. Abdul Hamid is blamed severely for these frightful massacres. There seems to be no doubt, that his idea in provoking this racial and religious fury was to divert attention from himself by directing it toward the Christians. United States warships have been ordered to the scene; meanwhile the Americans in the disturbed district are depending on the ships and sailors of the other powers, who have apparently, however, been unable to stop the killing. Our government is criticised for not having warships near this troublous region. Our ships patrol the Atlantic, the Pacific and Chinese waters, and we are stationed in almost every foreign port. But in the Mediterranean we have not even a gunboat. In the present emergency the United States must depend on the warships of Great Britain and France for the protection of American citizens. But the new Sultan Mehmed V has taken most energetic measures to suppress any further attempts at disorders and to punish the perpetrators of the recent trouble. The new government appears to be both able and exceedingly anxious to restore peace and quiet throughout the country.

Communication with Mars.

"What man has done, man can do." Not that any mortal has as yet been chatting with our most interesting neighbor, but that scientists have had longings in that direction and in times passed have materialized dreams just as seemingly ridiculous as this. It seems fitting that our biggest State has taken the initiative in this gigantic movement. Indeed, why shouldn't the Lone Star be anxious to make the acquaintance of the heavenly bodies!

As recently as April 26 Wm. Henry Pickering, professor of astronomy at Harvard University, received a telegram signed by the Star and Telegram, two leading newspapers of Ft. Worth, Texas. In the Telegram was stated the proposition that if the noted professor would go to Texas to superintend extensive experiments relative to signaling the planet Mars, a fund of $10,000,000 would be raised for the purpose.

Whether the professor will acquiesce or not remains to be seen. He recommends however that an observatory be first erected on the hills of Western Texas where the atmosphere is especially clear. There, surprising observations and records might be made this year when Mars will be 10,000,000 miles nearer the earth than for years. If these observations seemed to sustain the theory that Mars is inhabited it would warrant spending such a vast sum on attempts at communication as is proposed.

The professor's plan to build a series of immense multiple reflectors so powerful as to catch and reflect the sun's rays at sufficient intensity to reach through 45,000,000 miles between the earth and Mars and attract the attention of the inhabitants of that planet.

This plan of Professor W. H. Pickering has been found perfectly feasible by M. Camille Flammarion, the eminent French astronomer. However he prefers the plan of sending the reflected electric light by night thinking a luminous area on the earth's darkened face more noticeable than an intense light neutralized by the bright surface of the sunlit earth.

He also adds that since we have had the telescope but 300 years and have made a study of Mars but 100 years, it is probable that the Martians have tried to communicate with as thousands of years ago and failing have concluded that the earth is uninhabited and ceased their attempts.

He again states that the recent luminous phenomena seen on the surface of Mars were not signals but are explainable by natural causes.

He thinks if communication is established the invention of a code of thought transmission and intelligible messages for both worlds would be comparatively an easy matter. He advises that if no immediate results are obtained from this signal, there would be no need of discontinuing the efforts. But that Mars will come near enough every two years for light reflectors covering an area of a quarter of a mile to be visible to the sister planet.

President Taft and The New Cabinet.

President Taft is characteristically prompt in his way of doing things. Long before inauguration day, Mr. Taft had thought out the problem of his Cabinet. Perhaps no American president has had so free a hand in selecting the heads of the various departments. Partly, for that reason Mr. Taft's Cabinet is a peculiarly non-political one.

That his choice of a Cabinet was a good one, as shown by the popular approval with which the names have been everywhere received. Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, the new Secretary of State, is in his fifty-sixth year. A brilliant lawyer he vindicated his reputation for statesmanship in the Cabinets of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, leaving the latter post when chosen United States Senator from Pennsylvania. He is thoroughly familiar with our diplomatic relations and affairs of State generally.

Franklin Mac Veagh of Illinois secretary of the treasury, was the originator of many important municipal reforms. He is a scholastic expert in finance and a strong advocate of civil service, and improved method in the conduct of public affairs. Judge George W. Wickersham, of New York, the new Attorney General, is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but an adopted son of Empire State, where he has had a long and distinguished legal career. He is regarded as high authority on corporation law. Jacob M. Dickinson, of Tennessee, the new War Secretary, is also a lawyer of eminent ability and was formerly president of the American Bar Association. He has served several terms on the Supreme Bench of Tennessee and was United States counsel in the Alaska Boundary tribunal.

George Von Lengerke Meyer of Massachusetts, the new Secretary of the Navy, was Postmaster-General in Roosevelt's Cabinet. He is a prominent business man, interested in many enterprises and with a valuable experience in public affairs. Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts, who succeeds Mr. Meyer as Postmaster-General has had a remarkable public career and has served in many important official positions. He was formerly First Assistant Postmaster-General and is consequently familiar with the duties of his new post.

Richard A. Ballinger, of Washington, Secretary of the Interior is a lawyer by profession, a man of large experience and high qualifications for office.

James Wilson, of Iowa, the venerable Secretary of Agriculture, retains the position in the Cabinet which he has held since 1897. He has the distinction of having the longest Cabinet service in our history. He is unquestionably the ablest man available for the place. Charles Nagel, of Missouri, who takes the Department of Commerce and Labor, is a Texan by birth, a leading lawyer, and has been actively interested in public affairs for many years.

Thus the complexion of the Cabinet foreshadows the spiritual purpose of the administration. Mr. Taft, himself a great lawyer, has chosen great lawyers for five of his nine counselors.

His administration will be essentially a lawyer's administration.

A Short Measure of What President Roosevelt Has Done.

Mr. Roosevelt himself declared that the three most important things that he had done as President, were the beginning of the Panama canal, the sending of the fleet around the world, and the ending of Japanese-Russian war.

When the treaty between the United States and Columbia for the construction of the Panama canal by the United States was issued at Washington, January 22, 1903, many said that such a stupendous enterprise was not practicable; when on April 1, 1907, President Roosevelt placed the work of construction in charge of the engineer officers of the army, the same objections were made, and the old controversy will continue long after the canal has been finished. But now these regular army engineers have brought the work to the point of efficiency, and the digging is going ahead faster even than enthusiasts for the enterprise anticipated. It is now promised that the canal will be open on New Years, 1915.

There are more or less patriotic reasons for pride in the rapidity of that physical work. It is proof of the skill of American engineers and of American management of great undertakings. Today, yellow fever has been driven from the Isthmus; comfortable homes and well organized social communities have been erected for the workers, with schools, churches and club houses. These local improvements are great, but they cannot equal those advantages which must follow the completion of this canal. The sooner it is open, the sooner the efficiency of every ship in our navy will be doubled; for then the full strength of the fleets will be available for use on both our coasts and on both oceans, and no one can foresee the new commercial forces that may in ten years be in play in China, South America, or in the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt's energy has found fitting expression in such a feat as the voyage of the battleships around the world. As a physical feat it is without precedent and a noteworthy achievement. More important still, the political effect or moral effect of the voyage has been far-reaching and altogether good. We must remember the welcome given the fleet at all the South American ports where it touched; the assurance that it gave, both to the ruling classes and to the masses, of the peaceful and helpful attitude of the United States; the satisfaction that the people of the Pacific States showed; and the spectacular demonstration of the Japanese who learned that our fleet considers the Pacific its home. The presence of the fleet gave the people of every country that it visited a far more accurate and friendly conception of the United States than they had had before. As a means of communicating international sentiment and of spreading a knowledge of our nation among the people of distant nations, such a voyage of such a fleet is entitled to rank as an important undertaking.

Our late President strengthened, beyond easy measurement, the foreign influence of our government. Under his administration diplomacy has changed its character. The Russian-Japanese war was brought to an end by the peace negotiations suggested by Mr. Roosevelt to those two great powers, August 5th, 1905. We now have an amicable agreement with Japan; we have arbitration treaties with practically all the great powers, and our government's activity in this direction has given the Hague conferences and tribunal a real meaning.

Mr. Roosevelt has made a great place for himself in our history and he has left a volume of great achievement to his credit that entitles him to the perpetual gratitude of his countrymen.

SOME HOT GOSSIP.

We understand from Cambridge friends that one of Rushville's prominent young men who is closely connected with one of the leading department stores of the city will be married soon. We are not at liberty to announce definitely the date of this wedding, but it will take place before the young man's brother and sister, who are twins, enter college next Fall.

Card of Thanks

The father and mother, sisters and brothers of little Tommy Jones takes this opportunity to thank all the kind friends who remembered him in his last illness and death with flowers and other wise. Especially would they thank the dear doctor who attended him and smoothed his path to eternity and the minister and undertaker who comforted us and made his funeral an event long to be remembered.

Little Tommy Jones has died and many mourn him, lost. He left behind him many a heart so sad and by storms tossed.

But where our little dear has gone, in time we shall go too.

So while we're here, we'll strive and try.

And to his soul be true."

A Friend of the Family.

DONT BE A KNOCKER.

Hide your little hammer and try to speak well of others, no matter how small you may really know yourself to be. When a stranger drops in, jolly him. Tell him this is the greatest town on earth—and it is. Don't discourage him by speaking ill of your neighbors. There's no end of fun minding your own business. It makes other people like you. Nobody gets stuck on a knocker.

TRI KAPPA DONATION.

We, the girls of Tri Kappa, beg to announce our attitude toward the library movement. From our civic improvement fund there has been appropriated $25 in addition to individual subscriptions. We have felt the need of a library as never before in our effort to carry out our literary program this winter.

We Dreamed

That there were no eavesdroppers on party phone lines.

That the juvenile court had successfully admonished all of "Peek's Bad Boys" in the community.

That James E. Watson had decided to stay in Rushville.

That blind tigers would not live in Rushville on account of its "dryness."

That a bungalow had been made out of the pest house.

That the minstrel show to be given by the Tri Kappas was a howling success.

That each of the churches had institutional features, such as reading rooms, gymnasiums, and quarters for boys' clubs. That the doors were open seven nights in the week instead of one.

That Main and Second streets were paved with gold bricks.

That the city park had been improved. That it had fountains and flower beds and a cement walk all around it, and that a large coliseum had been erected in the southeast corner, where public meetings could be held.

That the new Carnegie library was and — wonderful to say — everyone was pleased with it.

That Bill Davis had bought an auto.

That the Sunday Connersville invasion had been repelled.

That Rushville was an immune against pool rooms.

That the Men's Big Meetings for the summer would be held at the West Washington ball park at Indianapolis.

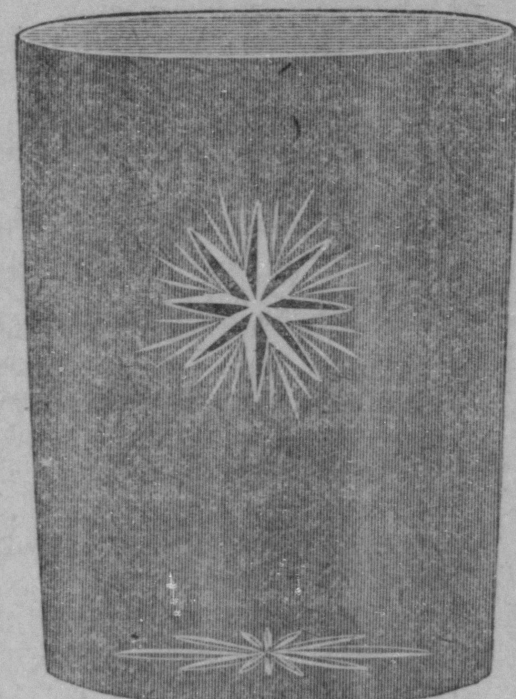

That Owen Carr had quit trading.

Year's Work Was Viewed

A SURPRISE TO ALL FRIENDS

Superintendent, Teachers and Pupils

Feel Justly Gratified at the Unusual Success.

The Art Exhibition of the public schools, which has been held in the Graham building, closed last night. This has been by far the most interesting work ever shown by our schools in the line of art. The big gymnasium was given over to the grade work and each room in each building had its own particular circle. About nine hundred and seventy sketches, arts and craft's work; drawings and basketry lined the walls. In this room the original paper cutting done by the little folks should have particular mention. Number two has some very pretty bits of landscape both in black and white, and in color. Number four has a really fine display of work among which are several beautifully decorated kites. From rooms six and seven we have the construction and stencil work which shows patience and skill far beyond the years of the pupils.

There is also a large table of original decorations for all the shades which make a wonderfully pretty display. Paul Moore, Burton Cox and Ralph Hackleman have added several sets of finely carved doll furniture to the arts and craft table. This work has been done entirely out of school hours and is a splendid example of the use of our present manual training. The Ropheal basketry is also worthy of note.

The high school class of eighteen pupils have an exhibition in the Art room which they have so tastefully decorated. The walls are tinted and stenciled, the hangings stenciled and the room decorated all by these high school pupils—they have every reason to be proud of their work for the room is beautiful.

The exhibit here also consists of all kinds of work. Miss Laura Holden has perhaps the largest display, in all about twenty pieces. Byron Cowing's work is also worthy of very particular mention. In all about a hundred and twenty-five sketches have been hung in this room.

Miss Coleman certainly deserves a great deal of praise from the patrons of our schools for her patient and persevering efforts along these lines. She has surely accomplished wonders since she has been special teacher of art here. Next year this exhibition will be sent to the National Art Teachers' Association, where there are displays from all the cities in the United States, and Rushville can be very proud of her work even here.

It is Said That ---

A sincere man is one who bluffs only part of the time.

A rolling stone gathers no moss, but is gets a polish which is almost as good.

Most of our ills come from trying to get more out of life than there is in it.

It is better to be a mixer than to get mixed.

Most of the suffering in this world comes from too much work, or too little.

Seek and ye shall find; knock and nothing shall be opened to you.

Nature is lavish in every production, but that of great men.

If you want to go fast, go slow; no man is big enough to do it all.

We work to become, not acquire.

Live the truth instead of professing it.

He is a great man who accepts the lemons passed to him and uses them to start a lemonade stand.

T. J. G. in planning May 8th for his holiday, got his baseball dates mixed. No game for "Tommy" today.

One of our reporters innocently approached a Jacksonian reporter and gleefully asked for news. He was so dumbfounded at our late project that he immediately resigned his well filled (?) note book.

Melvin Moor, Ferd Retherford, "Jimmy" Young and other pals have persistently cherished in their inner vest pockets for years, a blank marriage license ready to fill out at a minute's notice. Now, why all this "waiting at the church?"

Our genial "American" editor, upon hearing of this special edition began to make plans for disposing of his outfit.

Judge Sparks would gladly don his "Creature-ic" garb and conduct the orchestra of the Tri Kappa minstrel, were he sufficiently urged.

The funds collected from the sale of extra copies of this edition will be used to erect a Coliseum in the City Park.

Betty Blythe, Jr.

I've always heard a lot about graft. Went over to the court house this morning to see if I could find any around behind things—for I knew they were always sort-a quiet about the subject. Simply scoured eight rooms and couldn't find a speck of graft any place—asked Jabe Smith if he knew anything about it—but he rambled around in his flowing whiskers and didn't seem to be next. The only thing I didn't understand was in the clerk's office. The high mogul in there gave me a paper signed by the whole troupe—that looked more like a dog license than anything I ever saw. Some of those men are real nice gentlemen and seem to be in for the improvement and general advancement of the city. Had an interview with the man with the auburn locks—and the cash—of course, he has never been accused of being short, but I have my own ideas about such things when fishing parties are held on the Sabbath. Judge Sparks seems to be a real kind and considerate judge—James K. Hackett, could play him beautifully. This world rests on such men as the wise and learned judge.

A letter was received today by Mr. John Smith, the man who endorsed the check for fifty dollars for J. P. Harmon, saying that he was now in Shelbyville. He had said he was going to Rushville. Before he left there he wrote that the livery man could find his rig at St. Paul. He had jumped his board bill, livery bills at two different stables and managed to get away with fifty dollars in cash. His letter was signed by the name of Holman instead of Harmon.

I wish to congratulate the Tri Kappa Ladies for their great skill, art, science and adaptability, the wonderful way in which they can get behind a paper and edit it, giving the clerical help of the Republican force a much needed rest.

They are young ladies of rare taste, and I say it knowingly, for when they wish to make a nice present to one of their gentlemen friends, I always see their smiling faces and get a sight of their purse from behind my counters.

View of Rushville Country Club Grounds.

Rushville has definite plans for a big up-to-date Country Club to be erected on the Gun Club grounds. The building of the club house proper has been begun and the contract is in the hands of Emmett Kennedy. The building will be 24x48 feet with a seven foot veranda extending the full length of the front. There is to be a complete dining room, kitchen and smoking den and large reading room. The building is to be on the extreme right of the picture given.

There are to be tennis courts, croquet grounds and golf links. The initial membership fee is five dollars the annual dues after the first year will be two dollars. A large membership is desired if a Country Club is to be made a success. The Board of Directors will consider any names for membership.

The officers are: Dr. F. M. Sparks, president; Mr. Ben A. Cox, vice president; Dr. P. H. Chadwick, secretary; Dr. Charles Green, treasurer; Dr. McClanahan and Mr. John Freeman, directors.

The number of members in the Gun Club is now forty-five. These will form a good start of enthusiastic members for the new Country club and many others have already signed and are anxious to help the matter. There is no reason what it should not be a great success.

What's the matter with a portrait of Prof. Scholl gracing the high school assembly hall alongside of our beloved Prof. Graham?

I wonder if there is enough water in this "dry town" to give the city its annual May 12?

ANNE'S SISTER

APPROVED BY THE FICTION
FEVERED THE NOVELIST

CHAPTER I.

Miss Anne Wilston boarded the suburban train and settled herself and her numerous packages for her long and rather tedious ride home. The scenery would all be perfectly familiar to her and her only hope of amusement would be interesting passengers, so she glanced about her as the train pulled out of the station hoping she would not need the "Red Book" under her arm to occupy her time.

Farther down her side of the car was a group of women who had practically taken possession, chattering like so many magpies, about "bargains lunches, sales and remnants." She could hear scraps of the conversation now and then—"And it was two yards wide and had the most beautiful border," or "It was trimmed in crushed raspberry and jet and was the BEST looking thing you ever saw, girls. It would look grand on you, Maud" etc., etc.

Almost across from Anne sat a man of rather an interesting type. Not very young but with a strong, individual, face and an expression indicative of a lack of interest in what went on about him. He sat gazing out of the window, unseemingly, as though his mind was far away. Anne looked on around the car. A couple of girls on their way back to college, a woman with a small boy climbing over her, an old gentleman asleep under a paper in the corner, and some business-like grips, presumably belonging to men in the smoker completed her list of occupants of the car.

She turned back to the group of women. Alone in their midst sat a tired pretty mother, the baby on her lap, and the woman still discussing bargains.

Anne dozed. At a small station, half an hour later, still chattering merrily, the crowd of women left the train. She watched them go regretfully if sleepily. They were so jolly and seemed to be having such a good time. Only the men were left in the car now.

A tiny wail reached her ear. She rose impulsively, her kind heart in her throat, and there—alone—forgotten on the seat lay the helpless baby!

In a second she had it in her arms and was out on the platform running down the steps to overtake the women.

She called—they did not hear! What if she should lose her train?

Blind with fright and excitement she ran plump into the arms of the handsome man, who had been sitting opposite her in the car, and who regarded her with speechless astonishment!

"Take this baby," she gasped—"it belongs to one of those women," pointing—"run!"

The poor man was two dazed to rebel—and stood holding the baby at arms length, as one might hold a dynamite bomb. From the rear platform of the moving train Miss Wilston gesticulated mildly.

The man stared—laughed sheepishly and finally (realized his predicament) ran frantically toward the crowd of women now just disappearing up the street.

Beaming with satisfaction and thinking of the misery her quick action had averted. Anne reached her seat—only to be confronted by the mother of the baby she had just kidnapped!

"That's her. She stole your baby," called the brakeman from the end of the car, "I saw her."

Instantly the truth flashed upon her. The poor mother had only left her baby for an instant and she—Anne Wilston—had literally stolen it, and thrust it into the unwilling arms of a strange young man.

To be Continued.

For Woman's Eye.

The practical styles, by which is meant normal waistlines, skirts of decent width, and sleeves a little fuller than they were last winter, have successfully reinstated themselves in popular favor.

There is a new sleeve in vogue that is a definite departure from the tight, close affairs. It is an old fashioned bishop sleeve, quite small at the top, but fuller at the wrist where it is caught into a little cuff.

The collarless dresses threaten to become positively epidemic this summer.

Among the tailored suits the coats are not quite as long as they were last winter, but there are none that are short.

With lingerie dresses are worn the sleeveless coats, principally of laces and nets, heavily trimmed around the bottom.

The bando, jeweled or plain, are being shown by first-class jewelers; also the Dutch collar pin, the latest novelty.

Black and white twisted silk gloves of four or five button length, with thumbs hemstitched, are a spring feature.

Smart Tips For Men

Late spring will see the most negligible effects worn by particular men.

Of course, the bosom shirt still holds first place in connection with formal evening dress.

The black vest with a swallow-tail is positively incorrect.

The Tremont collar is a dandy, have you seen it.

The decided leaning toward loose togs is to a certain degree mussy, and would in previous years have been regarded with a shudder as bordering on carelessness, but is today accepted as ultra smart.

Fancy striped hose are much in vogue by swell dressers.

London smoke cravats, also Oriental pink and royal blue are very stylish.

Crepes are among the recent importation from Paris to find favor.

But Fashion is in a generous mood and wearing what we feel like seems to be the order of the day.

Those who have Easter clothes will wear them tomorrow.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

For want of space in the advertising columns, we place the following here—

"I just can't be idle a moment, and as I find that running my automobile all the time is not only monotonous but expensive, I have become agent for the Chicago American. I am willing to take at least five or six regular subscribers, as I think that I can manage to pass that many papers each evening. If I find it too wearing I can use my automobile for delivery. I expect to do this on a cash basis, so the first six bringing me their subscriptions I will offer a special premium of a free auto ride around the court house square.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cures nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—also general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

MUSICALE ENDS WITH SUCCESS

Great Adversities Encountered But Overcome by Enthusiastic
Work of Members.

EVERYBODY WELL PLEASSED

An Elaborate Program Will be Given
Monday at the Home of Mrs.
Smiley.

The Ladies' Musical will close its regular meetings for this season with a program to be given next Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Panthea Smiley, in North Harrison street.

The misfortune which the Musical met with several weeks ago in having its pianos damaged, has not hindered the society from continuing its regular programs, which have been given at the homes of various members. This one of the many instances of adversity which have been overcome by the club, and which are recognized as exponents of its strength. It appeals to us and to much of the public as being quite remarkable that this small number of ladies has been able to keep alive and stimulate a love and taste for musical art among the women of our city. The Musical is just closing its 23d year, and in its career of ups and downs it has always profited by the "ups," and has never been downed by the "downs."

Such organizations as this one are great big credit marks to a community, and we are proud to number so many of them in the list of Rushville clubs.

The program, a number of "old-time" selections, to be given on next Monday afternoon, follows:

Piano duet—(a) "Danse Instique," Mason; (b) "Caprice Brillante," Mendelssohn, by the Misses Olive Buell and Bessie Lee.
Vocal quartet—Selected, by Mrs. A. E. Martin, Mrs. Fred. Beale, Mrs. Ernest VanOsdol, Miss Alice Norris.

Reading—Selected, by Mrs. Ernest VanOsdol.
Piano solo—(a) "Subian Dance," (b) "Singing Leaves," by Mrs. C. H. Gilbert.
Violin solo—Patriotic Medley, Walter, by Miss Leona Thomas.
Piano solo—Selected, by Mrs. Larry Harris.
Vocal duet—1st act, "Last Will and Testament," Merz, by Mrs. R. J. Wilson and Mrs. Siddle Mowers.
Piano solo—Selected, by Miss Jennie Madden.
Vocal solo by Mrs. Fred. Beale.
Whistling solo—"The Mocking Bird," by Mrs. Panthea Smiley.
Vocal quartet—Selected, by Mrs. A. E. Martin, Mrs. Fred Beale, Mrs. Ernest VanOsdol, Miss Alice Norris.
